Review of Properties for Listing

Definition of Heritage Barn

Section (5) "Heritage Barn" means any large agricultural outbuilding used to house animals, crops, or farm equipment, that is over fifty years old and has been determined by the department to:

(a) Be eligible for listing on the Washington Heritage Register or the National Register of Historic Places; or (b) have been listed on a local historic register and approved by the advisory council.

In addition to barns, "heritage barn" includes agricultural resources such as milk houses, sheds, silos, or other outbuildings, that are historically associated with the working life of the farm or ranch, if these outbuildings are on the same property as a heritage barn.

Heritage Barn Registration Form

Handwritten forms accepted, typed form is preferred. Please send an electronic copy of the completed form.
If you need assistance completing the form, please contact Michael Weaver, State Architectural Historian, at 930-688-9076 or Michael.Weaver@idaho.gov.

PROPERTY HISTORY: (Depend on the history of the barn/property such as use, builder, modified, family stories and memories, etc.). Add additional pages if necessary.
The barn was built around 1913 by a man named Beall. The oldest living past resident of the property, Mike Wilson, reported that it was originally used for rabbits, the farthing sold as building material. The barn was later used as a dairy barn and for raising beef. Mike Wilson is a local legend and still alive in his nineties, he remembers milking cows in the barn. There are many fond memories of stacking hay in the barn and of the winter weekend games that took place in the loft with local kids, many of whom still live here in the area. He currently farms the property and sells certified organic produce through a CSA program and at local farmers markets. He has a lot of interaction with the public and hosts an annual open house as well as periodic farm tours. He would like to start showcasing the barn when there are events with the public to see place. The barn has profiled siding, exposed knee trading, extensive trim detail and decorative siding at gable ends.

Please provide current photos of nominated property (interior and exterior (all four sides)) and a map indicating the location of property. Digital images are preferred (please provide disc) or print on photographic paper.
